

KRISTI

HOUSE

Kristi House Children's Advocacy Center is pleased to invite Miami-Dade child-serving professionals to apply to participate in the next C-START Learning Collaborative:

TRAUMA FOCUSED COGNITIVE BEHAVIORAL THERAPY (TF-CBT) Community Based Learning Collaborative

Taught by National Master Training Team from the Medical University of South Carolina

WHO CAN PARTICIPATE: Open to mental health clinicians, case managers, advocates and supervisors who serve children, especially those involved in child welfare, who have experienced trauma from sexual abuse, physical abuse, trafficking or other adverse experience.

C-START utilizes a community-based learning collaborative approach to engage multiple stakeholders to ensure that children receive appropriate screening, referral to services, and quality treatment.

COST: There is no cost to participate in the training and practice aside from $35 for the online TF-CBTWeb course to be completed before the first training. Interested professionals must apply, complete pre-work and make a commitment to work and report on cases using TF-CBT.

KRISTI HOUSE'S C-START PROJECT was launched in 2012 to build community-wide capacity to deliver evidence-based, trauma-informed, culturally competent treatment interventions for child victims of sexual abuse and other types of trauma.
